

Popular skills across industries

The top few skills that employers rank as most important are common across all industries. Communication, writing, and organizational skills are listed as requirements for almost every job posting.

- Communication skills
- Organization skills
- Writing
- Customer service
- Microsoft Excel

Rank in importance

Source: Burning Glass